

48 Red marker flags were installed: (Below are just 'possible' explanations of the forms seen on the radar screen in the field on June 15 2016, nothing definitive at this point in the process.) Both Grulich and Scully took several photographs during the survey of the Spurling Cemetery.

Flags 1-17 were placed during south-north survey. 1

- 1 burial (no visible stone)
- 2 burial (west side of Joseph L'Grow stone)
- 3 burial (west side of Sarah L'Grow stone)
- 4 burial (no visible stone)
- 5 something
- 6 burial
- 7 something hard (felt it with metal probe)
- 8 burial (narrower than the others)
- 9 something (4' down)
- 10 something (3.5' down, possibly linked to 12)
- 11 bones on surface (likely part of a deer carcass seen in the woods)
- 12 something (10 and 12 are in a line - possible fence line?)
- 13 something (5' down)
- 14 something (7" down)
- 15 burial?
- 16 something
- 17 something (3.5' down) (big ant hill nearby)

Flags 18-48 were placed during west-east survey - some confirmed presence of objects noted with flags 1-17.

- 18 burial? Rock? (3.5' down)
- 19 something
- 20 burial?
- 21 something
- 22 something
- 23 something (4' down)
- 24 something
- 25 something
- 26 something
- 27 something
- 28 something
- 29 burial (near Edward Spurling headstone)
- 30 something
- 31-32 something long and flat (4' down)
- 33 something
- 34 something (4 or 5 ft. down)
- 35-36 something long and flat
- 37 something
- 38-39 something long
- 40 something
- 41-42 something long
- 43 something (could be with #40)
- 44 something
- 45 something by R. S. Stone
- 46 burial (about 4-5 feet long)
- 47 something
- 48 something

END of markers